HONGKONG, 4TH AUGUST, 1881.

With further reference to the China Mail's attack on Governor Hennessy's policy in Barbadoes, which appeared on Monday evening, and to which we briefly alluded in our issue of yesterday, we have some recollection of a similar attempt made by the same journal about a couple of years ago, which elicited from a Japan contemporary a stinging retort in the shape of extracts from the leading London papers of the time, such as the Times, Spectator, Daily News, and other organs representing the views of different political parties, which completely exposed the one-sided and utterly unreliable character of the Mail's statements.

We do not question the perfect right of the China Mail to rake up the old Barbadoes grievance, and use it as a weapon to vilify and abuse Sir John Pope Hennessy; but we doubt the expediency of such a course, and honestly pity the execrable taste which dictated its adoption. There is, moreover, one thing we had a right to expect, in common decency and fairness to the person accused of so many vile and impolitic acts, and that was a fair and impartial statement of both sides of the question.
Our contemporary, however, is never actuated by the honorable principles of manliness and fair play; which certainly ought to characterise all the official utterances of a public journal, depending for its very existence on the suffrages of an intelligent community; and therefore, instead of laying before its readers a concise and impartial resumé of the whole case, the China Mail merely published the ex parte statements of Governor Hennessy's enemies and accusers, with a running commentary in the same elegant, gentlemanly style, so peculiarly the evening paper's exclusive prerogative.

Sir John Pope Hennessy's unpopularity with a large section of the European community in Hongkong is undoubted; but we greatly mistake the character of even the most bitter of His Excellency's opponents, if it is to be inferred that the China Mail's mode of warfare, meets with public approval. However antagonistic to the Governor's policy public feeling may run, we feel quite assured that it is the universal wish of the foreign community, that His Excellency should in all cases have a fair hearing.

Our space will not permit us to deal at any great length with this Barbadoes question, so we will content ourselves with extracting from the debates in both Houses of Parliament in London, the opinions of two or three well known statesmen, politically opposed to Sir John Hennessy, which, we submit, is the most satisfactory answer that could be given to the despicable statements which the China Mail attempted to foist on the Hongkong public as the plain, unvarnished truth.

In the debate in the House of Commons on the 28th July, 1876, the Right Honorable W. E. Forster said, that he was glad at the conclusion at which Her Majesty's Government had arrived, namely, that the conduct of Governor Hennessy in very difficult circumstances, had been such as to deserve the confidence of the Government and the House of Commons. It was quite clear that Mr. Hennessy had shown great moderation, courage, and discretion. Many of us recollected what had happened in a neighbouring Colony—Jamaica—some years ago, and it was impossible to read the account of the excitement in Barbadoes without a feeling of gratitude to the man who had saved us from horrors which might have readily occurred. He could not say less with regard to Mr. Hennessy.
He had always sat opposite to that gentleman in that House, and had not always agreed with him in opinion; but he felt great pleasure in bearing his testimony that one who had been an honor to the House of Commons and to Parliament, had distinguished himself by his conduct in this matter.

In the House of Lords on August 1st, the Earl of Carnarvon said, "it should be remembered that Governor Hennessy had been continually urged by excited persons to shoot and hang, and to proclaim martial law, and thus to revive a state of panic and terror which the noble Lord opposite will remember was an unfortunate incident in the Jamaica disturbances.
Mr. Hennessy, however, kept his head clear and cool throughout. He declined to be a party to such acts—and he even refused permission to the special constables to carry firearms. Probably there are not many Governors who would have shown equal coolness and forbearance with Mr. Hennessy. Not only do I acquit Mr. Hennessy of all blame, but I think that he is entitled to very great praise."

Lord O'Hagan said, "I cannot refrain from expressing my entire approval of the conduct of Her Majesty's Government, and the great pleasure with which I have heard the characteristically just and generous statement of the noble Earl, the Secretary for the Colonies. Of his general policy in relation to Barbadoes enough has been said by the noble Lords who have preceded me. But I desire to add one word, on behalf of Mr. Hennessy, in whose proceedings I have not taken less interest, and in whose vindication I have not felt less satisfaction, because, whilst I sat with him in the House of Commons, he was the active and often the troublesome opponent of the party and the principles to which I am attached. Looking to the correspondence before us, I think it affords the strongest evidence that he possessed throughout the serious trials to which he was subjected a cool head, a brave heart, and an honest purpose. He refused to permit any of those acts of violence and cruelty to which panic has so often urged individuals and masses of men. He resisted a powerful combination, acting too much in the spirit of ascendancy, which has shown itself equally reckless in its accusations and indifferent to the interests of humanity and justice.
He deliberately declined to allow his Executive Council to adopt the unconstitutional course which had been pursued in a neighbouring island, and to his fairness and moderation it is directly attributable, that the scenes of blood and terror which disgraced Jamaica were not enacted in Barbadoes. I sincerely rejoice that the Government in spite of unscrupulous and persistent calumny, has recognized his merit, and preserved to the public service an able administrator, whose career will be one of usefulness and honor."

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The P. & O. Mail steamer Zambesi, with London dates to 1st July, arrived here this morning, and delivery was commenced at nine o'clock.

Our copy of the Straits Times has not come on by the mail steamer to-day, and we are therefore unable to give the latest telegrams from Indian papers as usual.

By the P. & O. steamer Zambesi, arrived this morning, we note the return from eighteen months leave of absence of Lieutenant Henry McLeod Young, Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers.

The late Haikwan Toutai (Hoppo) of Canton arrived in the harbour this morning in the revenue cruiser Pengchow-hai. The Peng-chow-hai dressed ship with flags on arrival, an example which was followed by two other small revenue cruisers which were lying at anchor off Murray Pier.

One of the reported objects of the Hoppo's visit is to discuss with Governor Hennessy the blockade question, so that on the Haikwan's arrival at Peking, he will be able to inform the Chinese Government of the views on the subject that are held by the Government of Hongkong.

There is evidently a desire to take up this question in earnest, and it is well-known that it is one to the satisfactory solution of which, Governor Hennessy has given constant attention ever since his arrival in the Colony.
We trust that before his term of office expires we may see this vexed question satisfactorily settled.

That the Chinese government should now recognize the advisability of sending their own officials abroad, to discuss political questions as they arise between themselves and foreign powers, is one of the most promising signs of the time, and shows that the policy of isolation is a thing of the past. The despatch by the Chinese Government of the Toutai Mah (whose arrival here we chronicled the other day), to Calcutta, is we understand in connection with the Opium question, and indirectly, with the so called customs blockade of this port. It is satisfactory to note that this vexed question is evidently attracting the attention of the powers that be, and no doubt if some arrangement can be arrived at between the Chinese and Indian Governments, as regards the Import duties of Opium, much of the difficulties surrounding a settlement of the blockade question will be dispelled.

Yesterday afternoon Inspector Perry made a successful raid upon a shop in Queen's-road Central, which has long been suspected of being an extensive agency for the sale of tickets for various lottery schemes. Under cover of a warrant he seized upwards of $35,000 worth of tickets belonging to the Manila and Chinese-Manila lotteries, all relating to this and succeeding months' drawings. The shop is a well known tobacconist's and money changer's, and the tickets were securely deposited in an iron safe. The proprietor was arrested and brought before the sitting Magistrate this morning. The case however was simply called in Court and remanded till to-morrow.

The paragraph in yesterday's Telegraph was quite correct. The steamship Namoa went to Kowloon as we stated, and not to the Cosmopolitan Dock as announced in last night's China Mail. We are not responsible for our contemporary's blunders, having quite enough to do to look after our own.

Amongst the passengers arrived by English mail we note the name of Captain F. Ashton, well known in Hongkong and the Coast Ports, as commander of Messrs. Douglas LaPrak & Co.'s steam-ship Albay. Captain Ashton, who has been in England on leave of absence, returns to assume command, on dit, either of the Albay or Haiklong.

The Chinese language is so peculiar that there is great difficulty in devising any practical system for conveying telegraphic messages. The telephone, therefore, is received with peculiar favour by the Chinese government, which has at length decided to establish a complete system of telephones throughout the country, commencing north of the Yang-tse-kiang. The work will be conducted under the charge of J. A. Betts, the American telegraphist, under whose superintendence the telegraphic line was built from Tientsin to Taku. —L'Ingen. Universel.

It is reported that the application of lightgiving materials to printing ink has been made in Turin, by which print becomes luminous in the dark, that in future it will be possible to read at night in bed or during a journey, without the assistance of candle or lamp. A new evening paper in which this luminous material will be used is, it is said, about to be published at Turin. —Shanghai Courier.

Following a custom usual enough in the west, and which newspaper people would naturally like to see more commonly adopted in the east, the local agents of the Sakurada Beer Company left us a sample yesterday to try—and report upon. Now although an idea yet lingers in some out-of-the-way places—accompanied by a belief in ghosts and such-like—that newspaper men must necessarily know everything, we beg emphatically to disclaim the peculiar knowledge essential to give an expert opinion upon beer. In this instance we will bow to the superior qualifications of the Japan Herald, and quote the testimony of that journal, merely adding that we quite coincide in the apparent excellence of the article, and can testify from experience that it is very palatable:—"The editor of a newspaper is called upon, in the exercise of his vocation, to pass judgment on many men and many things. The other day a messenger arrived at our office, bringing with him a dozen of beer from the Sakurada Brewery in Tokio, upon which the opinion of the Herald was politely requested. We forthwith im-pannelled a jury of experts, who had graduated in Yorkshire, in Bass's and Allsopp's ales, as well as in Continental brews of Austrian, German, and Danish malt liquors, and we opened several bottles. The beer proved to be in prime condition, clear, sparkling, and with the full flavour characterizing beer brewed from a liberal allowance of sound malt and good hops,—in short, it was excellent. The jury promptly came to a unanimous verdict in its favour, and one of the jurymen informed us that he intended to interview us daily until the dozen be finished. Thus fortified by the opinion of the experts we called in, we can most honestly recommend the 'Export Beer' of the Sakurada Brewery in Tokio, to all consumers of 'wine of malt' as truly excellent tippie."— Hiogo News.

We have just learned that P'eng, the Min Magistrate, has been requested by His Excellency the Viceroy Ho, to resign his office at once. The cause of his resignation has been made known to us and is as follows:—A certain Bachelor of Arts, or Hsiu Ts'ai (秀才), had incurred the displeasure of the magistrate, and the latter ordered him to be beaten on the hands. This was done without the magistrate referring to a higher authority, which he is directed by Chinese law to do.
A Hsiu Ts'ai cannot be punished by any magistrate without the consent of the Literary Chancellor or Hsiao-tai, (學台), unless he be first stripped of his rank. It seems that the aforesaid Barchelor of Arts had but a personal quarrel with the magistrate, and upon the former being punished, he made a petition to the Literary Chancellor, who, in consultation with the Viceroy, requested the Viceroy to have the magistrate removed. The viceroy however seems to have taken a lenient view othe case and directed the magistrate to resign, so that the latter would not forfeit his future chances to hold office.—

The U. S. S. Richmond left the harbour at 11 o'clock this morning (16th), homeward bound. As she left, she saluted the flag of Admiral Clitz, and manned her rigging, which compliments were returned by the Monocacy.
The rigging was also manned in passing the different men-of-war in harbour, and duly acknowledged. The Richmond proceeds, under sail, to Panama, where her present officers and crew will be relieved by a fresh crew from the United States, and the Richmond will then return to this station.
—Japan Herald.

It has become a fashion among lawyers like an epidemic that disseminates from one to the whole stock, to sue the editors of various journals, since the Tokio corporation of lawyers sued the editor of the Nichi Nichi Shimbun for having published a libellous article about them. Now it is reported that the pettifoggers at Okayama, Bizen, sued a local journal for the same cause, and their confreres the Kobe Shimpo.
It is eagerly hoped that the judgments to be given will be satisfactory.—Idem.

There are in all the localities a considerable number of candidates for licensed lawyers, and many abuses exist, such as to inform the new applicants of the questions that were put to those who had already passed, the consequence being that the former, being prepared just enough to pass the examination, are not qualified to act as barristers afterwards. An appeal was recently sent up to the Judicial Department from Fukuoka Ken, asking the way to check such abuses.—Idem.

We hear that news has been received in town this morning to the effect that the Irish Land Bill has passed the second reading in the House of Lords. Also that Ayoub Khan has occupied Candahar.

The following items are taken from the London and China Express of July 1st:—

NAVAL AND MILITARY.

Colonel the Hon. R. C. H. Spencer, late captain on the retired full pay list, Royal Artillery, died on the 24th ult., at his residence, Combe, Orfordshire, at the age of sixty-four. Deceased was the seventh son of the first Lord Churchill, and brother of the present peer. He was born in 1817, entered the Royal Regiment in 1835 and became lieutenant in 1837. He served throughout the whole of the operations in China, and was present at the destruction of the batteries of Amoy in 1840, in the Blonde. He also took part in the capture of the forts of the Bocca, Tigris, and the subsequent operations, and was at the storming and capture of the heights of Canton, the attack and capture of Amoy, Chusan, Chapoo, Woosung, Shanghai, and Chin Kiang, and the demonstration before Nanking.

The subjoined appointments of Naval officers to the China Squadron are gazetted:—Lieutenant John E.
Beacroft to the Kestrel, vice Triggs; Assistant-Paymaster Herbert L. Warren to the Duke of Wellington, additional, until appointed to a ship going to the China station; and Assistant-Paymaster Sydney W. Wright to be Secretary to the Commodore at Hongkong.

The appointment of Lieut. J. E.
Gregory to the Kestrel, on the China station, announced in our last issue, has been cancelled.

A telegram reports that the Esak, 3, double screw gun-boat, Lieutenant Commander Leunox Napier, and the Tweed, 3, double-screw gun-boat, Lieutenant-Commander W. M. Carey which left Devonport for the China Station on the 17th March, arrived at Hongkong on the 19th June.

It is notified in the Gazette, that Lieutenant R. S. F. Walker, 28th Foot, is appointed to serve with the Perak police, and will be succeeded in his regimental duties by Second Lieutenant Tufnell, of the 61st Foot.

The Peking, the new steamer for the China coasting trade, which was launched on the Lynce early this month, will leave for China in a few days. The dimensions of the steamer, which is built upon the most modern type, are :—length between perpendiculars, 260 feet, beam 33 feet, depth 23 feet. She is expected to steam 11 knots per hour. The Peking is the first of the two vessels which are to be added to the line of coasting steamers belonging to Messrs. William Milburn and Co., for whom Messrs. Siemssen and Co., of Hongkong, are agents. The second steamer, now building, is to be named the Hongkong, and will be ready to go out in November next.

His Excellency the Chinese Minister at Berlin, Li-Fong-Pao, has, in addition to his present offices, been commissioned to represent the Chinese Government at the Courts of Vienna, Rome, and the Hague. His Excellency will, therefore, in future visit these Courts from time to time, maintaining his official residence at Berlin. After the receipt of the necessary credentials His Excellency, having regard to the time when the respective monarchs are to be found in their residences, will first go to Holland, then in the fall of the year to Vienna, and finally, to Rome. It has given general satisfaction that Li-Fong-Pao is not to leave Berlin permanently, as he, as well as his family, are very much esteemed in the German capital.

The following are the names of new ships that are to be built at Her Majesty's Dockyards:—Two steel screw corvettes of 14 guns, 2,380 tons, and 2,300 horse-power, the Calliope and Calypso, to be built at Portsmouth and Chatham respectively. Two composite screw sloops of eight guns, 1,420 tons, the Rapid and Royalist to be built at Devonport; and another sloop of the same class, the Caroline to be built at Sheerness.

Captain Scott, R.N., has arrived in England from Halifax, Nova Scotia, for the purpose of taking out to Nova Scotia the Charlydis, formerly on the China station, which has been lent to the Canadian Government to be used in future as a training-ship for boys at Halifax.

A steel, single-screw corvette, to be named the Calypso, will be laid down on the slip from which the Polphemus was launched last week. The Calypso will be of 2,380 tons displacement, will carry 14 guns, and will have engines working up to 2,300-horse power.

The Nelson, 12, double-screw, armoured-plated, has been commissioned by Captain James E. Erskine, for service on the Australian station, relieving the Wolverine, which was re-commissioned at Sydney in July, 1880.

The following are some changes in the representation of China in foreign countries:—His Excellency Li-Shu-Chang, at present Chargé d'Affaires at Madrid, to be Chinese Minister to Japan, succeeding the late minister who recently left Tokio; Choo-Ho-Chuen to be Chargé d'Affaires at Madrid. It is expected that Chung-Tsao-Joo, Taotai of Tientsin, will succeed His Excellency Chen-Lau-Pin as Minister at Washington. His Excellency Li-Fong-Pao has also been commissioned to represent his country at the Courts of Vienna, Rome, and the Hague.

We regret to have to report the death of Mrs. Legge, wife of the Rev. Dr. Legge, Chinese Professor at Oxford University, which took place at that town a few days ago. Mrs. Legge will be universally regretted by a large number of friends in China as well as at home.

Coroner's Inquest.

An inquest was opened at the Government Civil Hospital yesterday afternoon on the body of Lau Akwai, the man who, while attempting to steal a quantity of fish from a fish lan, received a kick which resulted in fatal consequences. After simply viewing the body, the Coroner announced that it would be necessary to remand the enquiry, as Mr. Mossop had been retained to watch the case, but having important business on hand in the Supreme Court, that gentleman was unable to attend. The further investigation into the circumstances attending the death of the deceased was therefore postponed till half past two o'clock tomorrow afternoon, at the Magistracy. The man who inflicted the fatal kicking has been arrested, but no charge will be preferred against him till after the inquest.

LATEST COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Thursday, August 4th, 1881.
One o'clock P.M.

Share transactions have not been of an extensive character since we last wrote, but one or two items are worth alluding to. Banks are a little weaker than they were yesterday, and a few shares could be obtained at 115 per cent premium, although holders of the stock are not exhibiting any great desire to sell; in fact, there is little likelihood of many cash sales of importance being booked until after the last half year's dividends have been paid. Sugars were brought on the tapis yesterday afternoon, and a few small lots were sold at 160, and business at the same rate has been done this morning, but not to any great extent. The position of Docks remains unaltered, sellers asking for 54 premium without eliciting a single response, and, as we stated yesterday, buyers could obtain shares at a much lower quotation with very little trouble. Steamboats are on offer at 27 premium, ex div., but no business has been done, and our quotation of 26, a rate at which a number of sales were effected yesterday, may be accepted as the more correct value of the stock at present. A few more China Fires have changed hands at $295 per share, without altering the market rate. The usual list of quotations, carefully corrected up to time of publication, for the English Mail, is appended.

Queen Victoria, it is related, recently had the pleasure of witnessing a remarkable piece of journalistic enterprise. When lunching out of doors with the Princess Beatrice and a few attendants, the party was surrounded by no less than eight reporters, who stood boldly looking on at the consumption of cold lamb and salad—much, of course, to the Queen's annoyance. Finding that they did not move, Princess Beatrice herself went across to where they had planted themselves, and said that the Queen had a great objection to being stared at while she was at luncheon, and would be glad if they would leave. The young lady's gentle remonstrance, however, had no effect upon these amiable persons, who murmuringly declined to depart. So stronger measures were tried; and, under dire threats from an attendant, the disappointed journalists withdrew.—Bow Bells.

"Here's to internal improvements," as Dobbs said when he swallowed the dose of salts.

Isn't it kind o' curious that no woman goes to the telephone to answer a ring without wondering if her hair is all right and her train in the proper shape?

Jones: "I see Smith has taken to riding a bicycle. What on earth is he doing that for?" Robinson: "Oh, a very simple reason—to prevent Mrs. Smith going with him!"

NEWS for the ENGLISH MAIL.

Several rumours have reached us during the last few days that certain remarks which appeared in our article on Chinese Emigration to Australia, in the Telegraph of the 12th instant, have given offence to Captain Thomsett, and one of his subordinates in the Emigration department. It would appear that these gentlemen consider that our observations reflect unfairly on them as officers of the Government. We gladly avail ourselves of this opportunity to assure Captain Thomsett and the Portuguese gentleman (whose name we have not the pleasure of knowing), that nothing was further from our intention, than that our remarks should be so construed as to reflect in the slightest degree either on the Emigration Officer or his clerk. Captain Thomsett is well-known as an officer of high character and distinguished ability, and the eminent services he rendered his country in the Royal Navy for a period of over 21 years, have been equalled by the admirable and efficient manner in which he has served the Colonial Government in Hongkong, as Harbour-Master, Marine Magistrate, and Customs Officer since 1861. In the article which is said to have given offence, we hazarded an opinion to the effect "that the emigration officer's examination (of the Chinese emigrants in the Glamis Castle), was a thorough farce, must he patent to every one who knows anything of the manner in which these sham examinations are conducted"; but we utterly disclaim any intention on our part that this should be construed as a reflection either on the character or competency of Captain Thomsett. As a matter of fact, we distinctly stated that the Governor was the officer who was responsible for the existence of a state of affairs, which we had good reasons for believing, were not satisfactory. We unreservedly withdraw everything which Captain Thomsett may consider an imputation against himself as a private gentleman, and as a Government Officer, stated or implied; and in doing this unsolicited, we are simply performing an act of justice to a public servant, who as Emigration Officer, we are fully convinced, has always performed his duties, according to his lights, faithfully, honestly, and to the best of his ability. Captain Thomsett cannot be held responsible for the existence of the present state of affairs with regard to the examination of emigrants, however unsatisfactory and imperfect the system may be. The Government, and not any individual colonial officer, is solely responsible. As there can be little doubt that emigration from this port to the colonies and other places has been tainted with many evils, it is incumbent on the Government to see that all examinations are conducted with a strictness to defy imposition in any shape or form; and this, we think, can only be properly done by an officer who understands the Chinese language, and whose time is not taken up with other, and more important duties. Captain Thomsett, we are informed, does not speak Chinese, and we know that, as Harbour Master, Marine Magistrate, and Customs Officer, he is one of the most hard worked officials in the Government service; and it is on these grounds, and on these grounds alone, that we consider a change in the Emigration Department would be beneficial to the public service.

With special reference to the Portuguese clerk, of whom we said: "whose honorarium from the state hardly places him in the position assigned to Caesar's wife," we need only state that we wished to draw the attention of the Government to the fact, that at times very important duties were entrusted to a miserably paid clerk, instead of to a highly paid and responsible officer, whose position would place him beyond the breath of suspicion; and that we had no intention of imputing improper motives to a gentleman whose position was his misfortune, not his fault, and who for aught we know to the contrary, may be a paragon of Government servants for trustworthiness, and efficiency.

It is our desire to conduct this journal honorably, and impartially, in the interests of the public. Government servants, as well as other public men, are always amenable to fair criticism. Beyond that we do not wish to go, and we rather desire to err on the side of leniency. But in even the most carefully edited newspapers, a phrase or expression will at times creep in unnoticed which may tend to injure, or give offence. In all such cases, we ask our friends who feel aggrieved to lose no time in stating their grievance, as we shall ever be ready to acknowledge our errors, as we shall be to lend our aid to put down abuses of every description.

It would seem that the Woosung railway muddle is very likely to be repeated in the North, in the matter of the Shanghai Tramways.

The true history of the vexed Woosung business has yet to be written; suffice it to say now that the Chinese Government considered, we think with justice, that they had been deceived, and that a march had been stolen upon them. Consequently, they resisted its working to the utmost, and finally succeeded in forcing its sale. It is true that they had to pay a pretty price—no less than the cost of a first-class English railway—for what was really nothing more than a "toy" tramway, but, as they considered that an important principle was involved, they did not shrink from the outlay. No sooner did they obtain possession of the line than they removed it to Formosa, and utilised it in connection with the Coal mines in the Northern part of that island. With such an experience to guide them, it might have been expected that our Shanghai friends, before setting on foot in their settlement a somewhat similar undertaking, would, as a matter of policy, if not out of common courtesy, have consulted the responsible Chinese officials in their neighbourhood. More especially would this seem to have been advisable if the promoters were really actuated by their professed desire to further the true interests of the whole foreign community. Those interests, as we maintained a few days ago, can only be truly served by working harmoniously with the natives of the country. If the objects of the promoters of the scheme be simply speculative, or to improve the locomotion for the benefit only of the few foreign residents, it is intelligible that they should elect to proceed in the manner best suited to their own convenience, and without regard to the views of the Chinese, though we are far from admitting that this course would be a wise one. On the contrary, however, it is urged, as one of the chief prospective benefits, that a scheme of tramways in Shanghai will furnish an example, to be in course of time followed up throughout the Empire, of improving the means of communication and working inestimable good. In the face of this axiom, it seems incredible that some effort should not have been made at the outset to secure the goodwill and co-operation of the Chinese authorities. Yet it appears from the latest advices that the Taotai has been ignored altogether in the proposed undertaking, and has sent, as, under the circumstances, is natural enough, a vigorous protest to the board of Foreign Consuls. The Taotai is the prefect of the district in which this scheme, from which so much good is looked for, is to be carried out. Unquestionably he is all powerful beyond the limits of the settlement, and can do much to make war on the undertaking, at all events in its wider scope. We fail therefore to see what was to be gained by ignoring him. On the contrary, that course was pretty certain to arouse his opposition. In this, as in the Woosung railway, we firmly believe that, if the matter had been straight-forwardly explained to the authorities, and fairly discussed in its different bearings, their support instead of their hostility might have been fairly counted upon.

The Chinese are a proud and it may be, a somewhat stiff-necked race; but if one thing stands out more clearly than another, as the result of forty years of foreign intercourse, it is that we have gained little in the long run by driving them. On the other hand, it cannot be disputed they are a reasonable and intelligent race, and open to conviction by fair argument and practical illustration.

We venture to believe that, if the Woosung railway question had been conducted in a wiser manner, and in accordance with the principles enumerated above, railways might ere this have been in full operation in many parts of China. The attempt to thrust that measure upon them proved fatal, for the time at least, to all such enterprise; and it is to be feared that this last movement at Shanghai, if not quickly remedied, will only aggravate the difficulty.

Two illustrations of a disposition on the part of the Chinese Government to put the "cart before the horse," in the adoption of foreign appliances, reach us by last mail from the north. The shafts of Coal Mines have been sunk, the workings laid out, and everything made ready for commencing an output of coal on a considerable scale, when it is discovered that the water communication to the neighbourhood of the mines is so shallow that considerable dredging operations will be needed before any large quantities of coal can be sent forward from the mines.

This difficulty was apparent from the first, and should have been provided against long ago.

The other matter has reference to the fleet of war-vessels the Chinese are gradually acquiring in Europe, for which they are now thinking of providing harbour protection. The port selected is Port Arthur in the Gulf of Liao-tung, to the northward of Ta-lien-yan Bay, the bay which the British selected as the base of their operations in the north in 1860.

It is reported that a considerable outlay is required before Port Arthur can be rendered suitable for the purpose intended. In the meantime the vessels are arriving, and only some three and a half months remain before the communications with the work close, so that the Chinese have no time to lose in making the necessary provision they should have made before.

The question of the prevalence of gambling in this colony has again cropped up, a leader in Saturday's Daily Press, and a letter in the China Mail, keeping the subject well before the public. Our morning contemporary, on the alleged authority of a Chinese correspondent, repeats the astounding assertions which we called attention to, and disproved by incontrovertible facts, and plain figures, on the 7th instant. The gentleman who writes to the evening paper is evidently perfectly well acquainted with the actual position of affairs, and as his views are expressed in every instance but one with becoming moderation, we have much pleasure in directing the attention of every one interested in the matter, including the Daily Press, to the letter signed "Enquirer" in Saturday's China Mail, for a most impartial statement of the actual position of affairs.

The suppression of gambling has always presented many difficulties to the authorities, since the licenses were cancelled, and the vice declared illegal. That the old system of Chinese detection was ill suited to the requirements of the Act which prohibited gambling, events very soon plainly demonstrated; and we are informed on what may be considered reliable authority, that even after the closing of the public gambling houses, the number of private hells in swing, almost equalled the licensed houses in their palmy days. Taking a common sense, practical view of the case, it appears to us a very grave question whether the enforced closing of the public gambling houses in this Colony was such a master stroke of policy after all. In the days of licensed houses, gaming was conducted under the immediate surveillance of the police authorities, so that cheating, and all the double dealing and chicanery which are specially characteristic of private and illegal gambling dens, were rendered well nigh impossible. With public resorts to go to, where everything was square and above board, there was no inducement for would-be gamblers to patronise unlicensed haunts, consequently illegal gambling houses were comparatively few and far between. That there was a certain amount of illicit gambling even when licenses were issued, cannot be doubted; but its presence was not felt so objectionably as has been the case since the passing of the Ordinance prohibiting gambling in any shape or form.

In making laws for a Chinese community whose habits and idiosyncracies, are perfectly unintelligible to the ordinary run of what we term civilised mankind, it should not be forgotten that special complaints require special remedies. Nor can we altogether ignore the fact that the Chinese residents of Hongkong have some claims on the consideration of the Government, even as regards their pernicious habits and prejudices. Gambling is not one whit more sinful to-day when it is prohibited by our laws, than it was in those days, not so many years ago, when a portion of our revenue was derived from licenses legalising and protecting it. Of ethics, according to our English ideas, the Chinese know little, and apparently care still less. They know that gambling was once legalised in Hongkong, and they are unable to comprehend the system of morality, or the questions of general polity, which, without any apparent benefits to the colony, have necessitated the transformation of what was for years protected and fostered by successive Governments, into a heinous crime. Truly enough they know the law, but what can idle laws do with a people who have no morals? If the moral sentiments of a people are completely relaxed or forgotten, the penalties imposed by the wisest legislature for what is not considered criminal, can effect little good. As a question of expediency, therefore, it would almost seem that the colony would have been financially far better off, and morally, certainly not much worse than at present, had the law legalising public gaming houses never been repealed.

However, we must now take matters as we find them. The Downing Street authorities, although compelled to shield with the arms of the law, that necessary evil, licensed prostitution, would doubtless object, under any representations, to return to the old state of affairs as regards gambling. There may be a good deal of inconsistency in making such a wide distinction between the two crying evils of every large community in the Far East; but whereas gambling can be reduced to a minimum by a well-organised police force, that other unspeakable vice can never be made altogether amenable to law and discipline, so it is perhaps better to leave it as it is.

The great difficulty experienced in putting down gambling, may safely enough be attributed to the improper and unsuitable system organised to meet the trouble at the commencement. Physicians tell us that the most potent medicines may be too late, when the disease has been permitted to gain ground by unnecessary delay. So it has been to a great extent with the suppression of gambling. It must be conceded however by every one who is actually conversant with what gambling was two years ago, and what it now is, that the system of dividing the district into sections, and placing a responsible officer of police in charge of each section, has worked wonderfully well. There are still gaming houses in the colony without a doubt, but all statements to the effect that they are worse than ever, and always on the increase, are gross exaggerations which ought not to be published unless on a better authority than that of "a Chinese correspondent." The great increase of prisoners in Victoria Gaol is owing to the large number of gamblers detected and convicted under the new system, as the records plainly prove; and one has only to refer to the police court proceedings for the past year, and compare the gambling cases tried with those of any previous year, to receive convincing proof that some slight amount of credit is due to H. E. the Governor, for an innovation which has reduced gambling to a very low ebb, and in all respects worked remarkably well.

We must however, as a simple act of justice, call attention to the fact that the Inspectors, who have had the entire charge of the gambling raids, and prosecutions; the men, who have actually done the whole of the work, have received no recognition whatever at the hands of the Government. This is not as it should be. Officers who do extra work, and that of a special, important, and at times, dangerous character deserve well of the State. The China Mail correspondent has done good service in calling attention to the $100 per month, paid to the Captain Superintendent of Police and the Registrar General, for their supposed extra exertions in putting down public gambling. It may be accepted as a matter of fact, that the extra duties performed by the Captain Superintendent, in the suppression of gambling, are not sufficiently onerous to merit such lavish remuneration; and so far as the Registrar General is concerned, we cannot find that, under the present administration, he has had or has now anything whatever to do with gambling, so that his $100 per month is merely a snug sinecure, which ought not to exist in these enlightened times. As the police officers have actually achieved all that has been done in the suppression of gambling, it seems to us that they, and not the Captain Superintendent of Police and the Registrar General, should receive the $200 per month, or any other sum which the Government thinks proper to allot as a recognition of their efficient services.

The complications and troubles in connection with the Wei Sing Monopoly business at Macao, are, to all appearance, a long way from being ended. The latest move in reference to the extraordinary proceedings of the past few weeks, must have come upon Governor Graça and his advisers in the light of a genuine surprise. It is currently reported that the original purchasers of the monopoly have initiated proceedings against the Macao Government for breach of contract; and further, that the Chinese member of the syndicate who was detained in custody at Macao, has commenced an action against the Governor, claiming heavy damages for false imprisonment. Although our information is derived from a thoroughly reliable source, we deem it prudent to commit ourselves to no definite expression of opinion, until the reports above referred to are properly authenticated.
